Gans will have about two weeks on the road, but will thereafter roturn immediately to Nevada in order to start his training. Although it is the general opinion that Britt will meet with a defeat, there is no gainsaying that it will be a hurricane fight, with no love lost between the boxers. Britt intends to rush from the start.

Virginia, It is Stated, Will Have Graduate Coaches This Year for Her Team.

TOLEDO, O., January 10.—William C. Cole, familiarly known as "King Cole," the Toledo attorney, considered by Fielding H. Yost the greatest all-around football player ever produced by Michigan, and who coached th Virginia University eleven for the last two years, has been elected coach for Nebraska University football eleven for the ensuing year. Cole was elected Thursday afternoon, and received notification to this effect.

"Both Virginia and Nebraska tendered me the position," said Cole Thursday, "I shall acept the latter, for the reason that I believe it offers me more opportunities to develop a great eleven."

Cole will leave for Lincoln, Neb., in the spring to look over the field and start practice.

It looks like sour grapes on the part of "King Cole" when he says he prefers Nebraska to Virginia as a football field. It is now stated that the University of Virginia will use graduate coaches, and it is probably for this reason that Mr. Cole will not return to Charlottesville.

Local interest in the Gans-Britt match, to be pulled off on March 17th, is at the highest pitch, and much money will be laid on the result.

Britt will begin training right away at his old quartors, and will not go to Tonopali until about three weeks before the date set for the battle. Gans will stay West and go to the quarters he occupied in training for his last fight. One thousand dollars will be allowed to each man for training expenses.

largest collection of lions ever seen in Richmond at one time.

Twelve of the group were brought here by Gaillard, the French lion-trainer, who, it is claimed, has come nearer than any other living man to earning the title of "lion-tamer." No one has ever subjugated a lion, and hence such a title as lion-tamer does not exist. Gaillard, however, has succeeded in doing more with the twelve feroclous beasts in his group than any other trainer, and his act is said to be better than that of Jack Bonavita, now retired from the steel arena and living quietly on his farm on Long Island. Bonavita lost his right arm in a fight with this same group which Gaillard, in Paris termed, "The Nervy Gaillard," handles, in this group is the notorious Baltimore, acknowledged to be one of the most ferocious lions ever held in captivity. Frank C. Bostock is the only man who has ever been able successfully to handle Baltimore alone. Whenever Mr. Bostock takes Baltimore in the steel arena the "Animal King" invariably wears a steel-barred helmet to protect his face and head, as Baltimore always fights standing up, and alms to claw out the eyes of his trainer. One rake or slap from the long, sharp, poison-laden claws of the beast would put any trainer out of the game quickly. Gaillard takes Baltimore in the arena occasionally. Mr. Bostock will handle him any time.

Nearly all day yesterday teams were kept busy hauling the heavy animal dens out to Idlewood. The animals have been doubled up in the deus, all of which are filled to their capacity now.

BIG RACE TO-NIGHT. Leweck to Skate Backwards

Against Brent.

Against Brent.

A crowd almost equaling that of the regular Friday night proportions journeyed to the big skating rink last night to see and pass on the ability of the great Leweck as a marvel on roller skates. Few left the building, and all were greatly pleased. It was unanimously declared that his performance was one of the cleverest over seen here on roller skates.

The crowd was kept in a continual roar of laughter as Leweck came on impersonating a beginner, and when ne wound up his turn by hurdling chalrs, tables, and other things, he literally brought down the house.

To-night Leweck will not only repeat this performance, but will race John Brent a mile, skating lackwards, allowing Brent to skate forwards. He has posted a forfeit that he can beat the local favorite. The contest will be distinctly novel. A preliminary race between "Sunny" Hughes, of Petersburg, and little Alex Taylor will prove a good one. The new pictures will be shown, and the attractions for the night promise to be the most interesting ever got tosether at the big rink.

had been changed, eliminating Winnington and Trenton from the Atlantic League circuit, Secretary J. H. Farrell, of the board, stated that the grounds upon which the Tri-State application for the territorial rights was granted were that the Tri-State, though recently admitted, had a prior claim upon the field, on account of its older organization.

With a view to regulating salaries and making them uniform in each league, at least to the extent of putting a limit on them, an amendment of Article 13 of the constitution was adopted. This amendment provides for a maximum monthly salary limit for each club of the soveral leagues below Class A, the classification governed by population requirements, and to be fixed by the respective leagues. A statement of the maximum limit shall be filed with the secretary of the board of arbitration immediately after the opening of the championship season in each of the leagues affected, and it shall be the duty of the national board to enforce it.

TRACK ATHLETES MAXING READY

terest in All of the Colleges.

From all over the country letters are pouring into Dr. Joseph Reilly, director of the Richmond Intercollegiate Association, accepting the invitations to take part in the track meet, and stating that all the colleges will be represented by teams for the races and by individual entrants for the other events. The relay race to be run by Richmond College, William and Mary and Randolph-Macon in arousing the keenest interest, as these institutions are old rivals, and are always ready to snatch the honors each from the other. These three colleges were represented last year in a three-cornered race that was one of the most exciting of the evening. The teams were made up of good, speedy men, and they made the race of their lives. As Richmond College won the honors in football this year, each of her other famous rivals are making every preparation to win from her in track athletics.

One of the other most exciting events will be the novice race, which is open to all entrants who have never won prizes in any contests. It is meant to give those whe are not quite up to the fore in the events a chance to show what is in them and an opportunity to win a medal. Randolp-Macon, Richmond College and William and Mary will be among the strong competitors in this race.

All the local schools are in training now for the indoor meet, and every afternoon may be seen the intending entrants practicing under the direction of their coaches. The local schools put up a good exhibition last year, and they are determined that the visiting preps shall not take away with them all the honors.

are determined that the visiting preparability of take away with them all the honors.

Tickets for the meet have already been placed on sale at Strause's Cigar Store, and many of them have already been sold. The boxes are being sold at $10, and several have been taken. The boxes in that end of the Horse Show building where the exists for horses and carriages are situated will not be put up for sale, as the view from them will not be good, and because several of them will be done away with where the turn in the track is to be made.

The event will be of the greatest social interest. Society leaders turned out in full force last year, and were so fully repaid with the enjoyment and excitement of the occasion that they will be on hand again at the coming meet.

Among those who have already secured boxes are Henry S. Hotchkiss, Jo Lane Stern, Sam Cohen, Thomas B. McAdams, George S. Keesee, J. Williard Craig, Miss Carrie Leftwich, Dr. F. H. Beadles and Elmore D. Hotchkiss, Jr.
